SENSITIVITY GUIDELINES

In accordance with the North & East Midlands Photographic Federation's (N&EMPF) recommendations, Keyworth Camera Club (KCC) has adopted the following guidelines concerning the showing of images with content of a sensitive nature.

1. When displaying photographs that contain subject matter which may be deemed to be of a sensitive nature (i.e. depicting subject matter having the potential to cause offence to others) within a public or club setting, the KCC Programme Secretary (or other responsible person) will ensure that the following wording is prominently displayed:

"Please be aware that this exhibition/presentation may include images of a sensitive nature, which some people may find upsetting".

The viewer then has prior warning and can make an informed decision about whether such images can be viewed, either by themselves or by children and other vulnerable individuals.

2. There is no intention to inhibit creativity, but to reflect changes in social attitudes towards public media in general.
